

Hello to those who have been loyally following my blog. I have been diligently trying to keep up every day. The posts I have made on port days have been taking me 2 or 3 hours minimum. I am now in New Zealand and we are visiting 8 ports in 8 days.....I just can't keep up and also do anything else or get enough rest.....SOOOO....this is just to let you know that there will be some gaps in my posting schedule. I will still do a blog entry for every day.....there will just be some gaps and I will need to catch up. I found myself giving up other things I wanted to do on the ship and that is not what this trip is about.....so.....once again....just a delay...and know I am busy having a GOOD TIME!!